

Bio

Through witnessing stories of courage and love while journeying alongside with many, Elysia Tan is thankful for the privilege she has as a fellow traveller, and often finds herself spurred on in her own pilgrimage.

Elysia seeks to offer a safe space for people to see, know and be (with) themselves and others in new ways, to discover strengths and hope for healing and change.

Back at home, Elysia tries to keep up with her two children while they amuse her with their antics. When there is time to spare, she enjoys preparing home-cooked meals for her family.

Educational Background

- M. Sc. (Professional Counselling), Swinburne University of Technology
- Dip. (Clinical Supervision), Counselling and Care Centre

Accreditations

- Registered Counsellor and Clinical Supervisor with the Singapore Association for Counselling