

Bio

Ong San San understands that "pain shared is pain lessened." She hopes to be a catalyst for others on their journey of self-discovery, healing, and fulfilment.

With a compassionate, non-judgmental approach, she strives to create a safe space for clients to fosters personal growth and strengthens relationships.

Being someone who treasure relationships, spending time with loved ones, is life-giving to her. Eating and sharing food is her favourite pastime and she learns that taking time to slow down her breathe is the best thing to do, to live in the moment.
