

Child & Adolescent Assessment

The Areas We Access

- Attention -Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD)
- Mental health conditions (e.g., depressive and anxiety disorders)

Collaborative Process

We seek to support you and/or your child by understanding what questions you and/or your child would like answered, and use reliable and valid testing measures (e.g., questionnaires, cognitive tasks) to address you and/or your child's questions.

Outcome

We seek to support you and/or your child by understanding what questions you and/or your child would like answered, and use reliable and valid testing measures (e.g., questionnaires, cognitive tasks) to address you and/or your child's questions.

Interviews with parent/s would be carried out, and teachers' input would be sought as well, to gather a more comprehensive picture of the child/adolescent's strengths and challenges. School/home observations may be carried out too (with your permission) if it would be helpful.

At the end of the assessment, we would discuss the findings with you and/or your child and provide possible ways you could support your child, as well as options for potential positive changes to be made.
